The leading provider of regulatory-compliant trading platforms for alternative investment marketplaces.

Entrex serves the 28 million companies Wall Street overlooks.

The traditional financial markets perform a hugely valuable role for the 3,600-or-so listed US companies they represent. But they completely ignore the 28,000,000 entrepreneurial businesses that generate most of America's employment and prosperity growth. That's where Entrex comes in. We were created by an entrepreneur more than 20 years ago to improve access to capital for other entrepreneurial businesses. Throughout our history, we've built innovative fintech solutions and harnessed emerging technologies like Blockchain to create a thriving capital market system to create and trade debt, equity and products offered by entrepreneurial companies.

The overnight sensation that's been twenty years in the making.

At the heart of all Entrex marketplaces is a proprietary technology platform that has been continuously developed and refined over a period of 20+ years and was featured in a best practice showcase article authored by IBM on innovative applications of their Domino and Hyperledger technologies. The Entrex platform has been nominated for the prestigious Fintech Innovation of the Year award and is the first of its kind to be designed to comply with all applicable United States Securities and Exchange Commission rules for private transactions between regulated parties.

Contrary to popular belief, money actually does grow on trees.

Entrex Carbon Market, LLC is a majority-owned subsidiary of Entrex, Inc. and operates a regulatory-compliant marketplace for creating, trading and retiring timber carbon offset securities and futures. The company works with landowners, tribal groups and nation states to issue and securitize offsets which are validated by the United Nations, the World Bank and other internationally-recognized authorities. Carbon offsets are purchased by a rapidly-growing number of companies who commit to carbon neutrality in their operations. McKinsey and Company predicts the market for timber carbon offsets will be valued at $50 billion per year by 2030.

Art Market

Our securitized fractional art investments put the pieces in masterpieces.

Entrex Art Market, LLC is a majority-owned subsidiary of Entrex, Inc. and operates a regulatory-compliant marketplace for buying and selling fractional shares in world-class artworks. The fine art market is one of today's most buoyant alternative investment categories. Our marketplace is unique in that for as little as $10,000, investors can own a securitized share of the genuine art, not some digitized facsimile, and can benefit when asset prices increase. At the same time, museums, curators and art owners can recapture up to 49% of the capital tied up in their masterworks with no loss of possession or control.

Florida Market

We're making it easier than ever to invest in the Sunshine State of the art.

Our home state of Florida became our very first state-based investment marketplace. If Florida were an independent country, its $1.2 trillion GDP would make it the 17th largest in the world. According to the US Small Business Administration up to 90% of capital investment in entrepreneurial companies comes from within a 75-mile radius of the company's home base. Given the propensity of local investors to invest locally, Entrex Florida Market, LLC makes it easier than ever to find, research, track, manage and trade in the debt and equity of entrepreneurial companies based in Florida.

Stephen H. Watkins

With leaders like these, it's no wonder we have lots of followers.

Entrex has assembled an experienced and talented management team with a track record of building and leading world-class businesses in multiple dynamic industries. Stephen H. Watkins founded Entrex, Inc., more than 20 years ago with a mission to improve access to capital for entrepreneurial companies. He is the author of Capital Can't Fund What It Can't Find and has appeared before US Congress committees advocating for the interests of smaller, entrepreneurial businesses.
