“I’m pleased to report that our presentation at NIBA once again demonstrated the effectiveness of their platform in connecting brokers and investors with our vision and mission,” said Stephen H. Watkins, CEO of Entrex.

“Our team engaged with numerous broker-dealers during the multi-day event, many of whom are now working with us to advance our initiatives within our broker syndicate,” Watkins continued.

He added: “We are also pleased to report that our lead broker and institutional investor remain on track for an anticipated Q4 capital deployment. This funding would allow us to move forward with the acquisition of multiple bitcoin mining units before year-end.”
